

Where to Put The Christmas Gift Books

These handsomely bound gift books that Christmas has brought to you as expressions of love and friendship, deserve protection commensurate with their sentimental if not intrinsic value. Keep them looking well cared for by housing them in—

Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcases

—where they will be safe against the ravages of dust and climatic conditions.

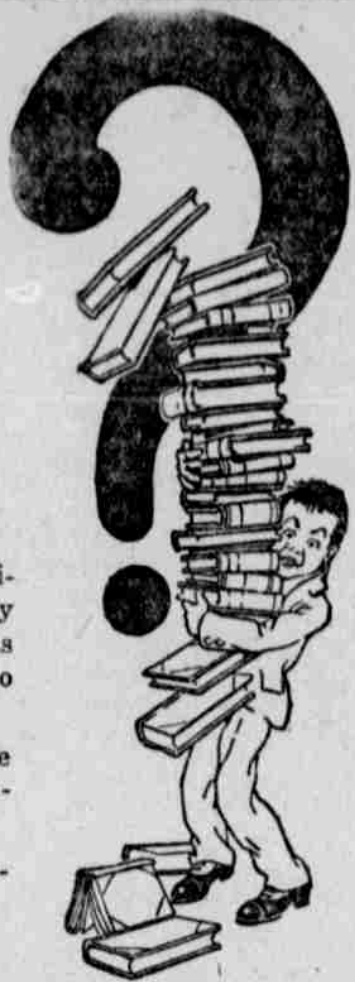

Perhaps this Christmas has caused your library to outgrow its quarters, an impossibility with a Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcase, as another section can be added at small cost, to care for the new volumes.

We carry a representative stock of these cases and shall consider it a pleasure to demonstrate their merits.

Call and see them; or 'phone and our representative will show you by catalog. Sole agents for Barre.

Miss Pauline Darling, who is engaged as a teacher in the graded schools of Richford, was a week-end visitor with her parents, Ident-Gov. Hale K. Darling and Mrs. Darling, at Hotel Barre.

Trouble rode on the fender of a late Saturday night car down Washington street and when the branch line outfit reached across the tracks and there were no more trips up the hill for some time.

Homegoers who had lotted on cutting their amblings in twain by hopping aboard at City square, looked hopelessly at the business of righting the car and then passed on. Help was summoned from the car barns and the car was returned to the iron shortly after 11 o'clock.

After a long existence, a part of the time as the principal "movie" house in Barre, the Pavilion theatre closed down at the end of the final performance Saturday night. No statement was given out in connection with the closing. Mrs. Ida McIntyre, who managed the theatre for the proprietor, R. E. Henderson of Wells River, has gone to her home in Montpelier and the indications are that the amusement house will remain closed for some time. Not long after he purchased the Pavilion of Ralston Bros., Mr. Henderson retired from active management of its affairs. Recently the Dreamland theatre, just around the corner from Pearl street, was closed to "movie" fans.

Mrs. Mary Bartlett and John Ralston, both of Plainfield, were united in marriage in this city Saturday evening, the ceremony taking place at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. J. W. Barnett. Mr. and Mrs. Ralston will reside in Plainfield, where the groom is employed as butter-maker in a creamery.

There was a clean slate at police headquarters this morning, the last habitué of the near week end having departed for the county jail Saturday evening. Lumber jacks from Lanesboro, Jim McCarthy and George MacSwain, pleaded guilty to subsequent offenses when arraigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott in the afternoon, each accepting an alternative sentence of 60 days.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Ira N. Houston returned to their home in Waterbury this morning, after passing the week-end with Mr. Houston's mother, Mrs. H. M. Houston, of Maple avenue.

John W. Shepard, E. J. Maker, D. Winifred Smith and J. W. Young returned to the city to-day from Rutland, where they have been attending the annual conference of the Older Green Mountain boys, which ended last evening. At the election of officers Saturday Mr. Smith was elected secretary of the organization. More than 500 boys and young men were in attendance at the conference.

A high sounding explosion at the home of F. W. Bancroft, 52 Franklin street, soon after midnight to-day brought members of the family to their toes and caused so much consternation that police headquarters was called and Officer John W. Dineen was sent to the house to investigate. It was a bomb-like noise and Mr. Bancroft, half awakened from a deep sleep, had instant visions of a German outrage right here in his own home town. He was conscious only of the explosion when he sprang from his bed and bumped into a German sentinel standing at the door. Two Uhlans blocked his way in the staircase, but he brushed past them, expecting to find the first story either in ruins or the hands of the enemy. Downstairs all was quiet and it was then that the householder, now fully awakened, bethought himself of the police. Aided by Mr. Bancroft, Officer Dineen conducted a thorough search of the premises, but the cause of the explosion remained and now remains a mystery. Mr. Bancroft doesn't intend to read any more war news hereafter when on the point of retiring.

Ladies' of the G. A. R. Installation.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. held their regular meeting and installation of officers Friday afternoon in the G. A. R. rooms. The report of the outgoing officers showed this society to be in a flourishing condition. The retiring president, Mrs. Julia M. Johnson, has served this organization very efficiently for the past four years, admitting during her term 14 regular and seven honorary members. The members of this society must be the mother, wife, sister or blood descendant of an old veteran. In time this organization will stand in the same light to the Civil war as the Daughters of the Revolution do at this time to that war. It is said that of all the organizations voting help for the soldiers' monument, this is the only one to show the color of its money.

The following officers for the ensuing year were installed by J. W. Averill, commander of R. B. Crandall post, G. A. R.: President, Amelia Matott; S. V. P., Gracia E. Dudley; J. V. P., Evelyn M. Mortimer; secretary, Angeline Thurston; treasurer, Flora Burnham; chaplain, Mary A. Carpenter; patriotic instructor, Abbie D. Willey; conductress, Lillian DuCharme; assistant conductress, Lucina Maxfield; guard, Vestella E. Brown; assistant, Flora Beckley.

After the installation refreshments of cake, coffee, doughnuts and sandwiches were served.
